Project Griffin was developed by the City of London Police and formally introduced in London in April 2004 to advise and familiarise managers, security officers and employees of public and private sector organisations on security, counter-terrorism and crime prevention issues.

Project Griffin's primary mission is to engage, encourage and enable members of the community to work in partnership with the police to deter, detect and counter terrorist activity and crime.

Project Griffin seeks to enlist the help and support of individuals or groups responsible for the safety and security of buildings, businesses, districts or neighbourhoods. It provides an official and direct channel through which the police can share and update vital information relating to security and crime prevention.

The aim of Project Griffin is to:

- Raise awareness of current terrorist and crime issues
- Share and gather intelligence and information
- Build and maintain effective working relationships
